

20 pts Questions Cognitive: (Wow, I learn?... Ok that is deep!)

- Why is this week's topic important for teamwork?

This week talks about the topic of loyalty. I think that loyalty is important especially for teamwork because it helps everyone who rely on each other and work with one another.

- How do plan on contributing to the team, besides completing your tasks?

I think that most of what I can do is to start by giving my loyalty to my groupmates and in turn they will entrust their loyalty to me. When we are able to trust one another, we will be able to work as a team better.

- How does your experience relate to other experiences you have had?

I used to think that I don't want to be disappointed or disappoint other people so I just want to work by myself. Soon, I learned not only that teamwork makes everything faster, but I also learned that I need to trust and have to be trusted by others for teamwork to work.

- Tell me about what you taught someone? And what did they learn that they didn't know before?

I taught my brother about loyalty and how important it is for teamwork. If everyone is wary from each other, we are bound to work by ourself or with people who we only trust. For teamwork we need to learn how to trust each other and earn each other's loyalty.

- If this was a religion class, how would you relate this week's topic to the gospel?

I think that loyalty relates to faith and virtue. Faith because we need to have faith in our teammates that they will do their part and virtue because we need to earn our teammates trust if we wanted to be trusted.
